

Business Solutions

Solutions

... opportunity through innovation

FIRST systems software is used in a wide range of organisations to deliver tailored information management solutions matching specific business requirements.

The flexibility of FIRST systems software is the key to optimising business opportunity through innovation.

Here are just some of the innovative ways businesses are using our software solutions.

- Management of an internal project register by an NGO in the health sector
- Replacement of a separate intranet presence with a single, fully integrated 'one-stop-shop' web interface for a large public legal organisation
- Online knowledge sharing resource for a petroleum research unit within a government department
- Management of a subscription lending service for an occupational health and safety organisation
- Research request system for transport researchers in a major state-based transport agency
- Photographic research system to support exhibition research in a large museum
- Distribution of dynamic practice area-based resource pathways and alerting services by a large corporate legal organisation
- Expertise and skills register management in the legal sector
- Provision of formatted data exports for commercial publication as CD-ROM databases
- Contribution to the National Bibliographic Database via the Kinetica Batch*Link process
- Management of the loan application and approval process by mortgage broking businesses
- Secure management of litigation documents by a major legal firm
- Management of an architectural materials photographic collection for a heritage organisation
- Online purchase request and bookshop management system for a government agency

Optimus PRIME
152 Queensberry Street
CARLTON Victoria 3053 Australia
Email sales@optimus-prime.com

Phone 1300 137 806 (Australia Wide)
+61 3 9340 4040
Fax +61 3 9349 2755
Web www.optimus-prime.com

